

Company Overview

Bowerbird Energy is an Engineering, Procurement, and Construction (EPC) firm headquartered in Richmond, VA.

Our primary mission is to partner with C&I and government agencies to develop, maintain, and implement a comprehensive energy and environmental management plan.

Investments in energy efficiency and clean energy do not have to be complicated or expensive. Make energy services simple.

How We're Different

The energy industry is constantly evolving – regulations, rebates/ tax incentives, and technology.

Let Bowerbird take the confusion out of it, streamline the approach, and maximize value for each of your new construction or O&M projects.

An aerial photograph of a campus or university setting. The image shows several large, multi-story buildings with brick and stone facades, interspersed with lush green trees and rolling hills in the background. The lighting suggests a late afternoon or early morning scene, with long shadows and a warm, golden glow. The overall atmosphere is serene and academic.

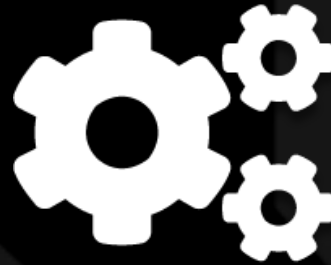

WHO TRUSTS US AND WHY?

Since 2014 real estate developers, construction firms, property managers, engineers, government agencies and more, have called on Bowerbird Energy to deliver energy conservation projects on time and within budget, that not only produce verifiable savings, but meet or exceed environmental goals.
